

MAKE AN IMPACT BY SERVING

Our purpose is found at the crossroads of what breaks our heart and what makes our heart beat.

The Church thrives when individuals use their gifts and talents to serve in ways that complement their unique skills and passions. This can look different for everyone, so just like Paul writes in 1 Corinthians 12, each of us has a role to play in the body of Christ, and there are an infinite number of possibilities for how that might take shape.

This assessment is a guide to help you think through how you are uniquely positioned to use your gifts and talents to serve within the church and community.

 Before you begin, read 1 Corinthians 12.

On the next page, you'll find a diagram with three columns. In the first column on the left, write down what you're good at—natural talents, abilities, gifts, strengths, etc. In the third column on the right, reflect on the things that break your heart—issues or challenges you're particularly passionate about.

 Now you're ready to see what opportunities lay at the crossroads of what breaks your heart and what makes your heart beat!

In the middle column, spend a few moments brainstorming how the other two columns might intersect. How could you be uniquely positioned in your areas of strength to help solve issues or serve in ministries represented in the third column?

WHAT I'M GOOD AT

HOW I CAN MAKE AN IMPACT

WHAT BREAKS
MY HEART

--	--	--

HIGHLAND PARK
UNITED METHODIST CHURCH